COMMUNITY CHEST PROJECT UNANIMOUSLY ENDORSED AT MEETING YESTERDAY

Friday, May 25 Set Aside For Whirlwind Campaign to Raise $17,000 Budget For City Charities And Philanthropies

COMMITTEES TO DIRECT CAMPAIGN APPOINTED

With unexcelled unanimity and hearty pledges of cooperation, the various organizations meeting yesterday in the office of Major E. S. Helburn to consider the question of a community chest campaign unanimously voted to adopt this method of financing the charities of Middlesboro and to set aside Friday, May 25, for a whirlwind campaign to raise the budget adopted amounting to $17,000. Everyone was decidedly in favor of the project, and so anxious was everyone to see the matter brought to a quick conclusion that committees were named for drafting the plan of campaign and the date set for the drive.

The biggest question for consideration was the formation of the budget for the charities. On this, there was a full and free discussion on every item and every possible angle of each subject was brought up. In every instance when it came to a final vote there was a unanimous decision in favor of the proposed amount.

|---|---|
| Grace Nettleton Home | $2,000 |
| Salvation Army | 3,000 |
| Red Cross | 3,800 |
| Library | 1,000 |
| School Athletics | 2,000 |
| Boy Scouts | 500 |
| Girl Scouts | 250 |
| Tree Planting | 300 |
| Red Bird Settlement School | 2,000 |
| Emergency | 2,150 |
| TOTAL | $17,000 |

The amount designated for school athletics includes the sum needed to buy an athletic field and a supplementary salary for an athletic director of experience. The present salary authorized by the school board is not sufficient to employ the kind of man who is needed for this work.

Appropriation For Trees

It was particularly the desire of Major Helburn that a small sum be set aside for the planting of trees in Middlesboro where there is need of beautification. This met with hearty approval.

The $1000 for the library is the sum needed for supplement what the city appropriates for its maintenance, and part of the money will go for the purchase of new books. Mrs. J. T. Alderson, who represented the library's interests at the meeting, explained that usually about $350 a year has been spent for the purchase of new books. Since this does not care for the needs of the library in acquiring new books, it was voted that a little more be spent for that purpose.

The sum of $750 to be devoted to the interests of the scout movement in the city was regarded more in the light of only a start on a big need for the development of the boys and girls of Middlesboro. In future years, if the movement is promoted as it should be there will be doubtless a much larger expense to incur.

The amounts set aside for the Salvation Army and Red Cross were based on the budget of expense for these organizations during the past year. The $2,000 voted for the Grace Nettleton Home represents about what is usually given to the Home during the year through the Woman's Club and private contributions.

The unusual work of the Red Bird Settlement School, located at Red Bird, Kentucky, in Bell county, was explained by Major Helburn and a statement of the present needs outlined. One of the greatest needs of the school at the present time is a building adequate for caring for the increasing number of boys and girls. This building already begun is estimated to cost $20,000. Of this sum $10,000 has been pledged by friends in the North, and the remainder is to be contributed by people of this section. Already Pineville has raised $6,000, and in order to give everybody an opportunity to support this settlement school which is the only one located in Bell county, it was voted to raise $2,000 of the sum needed to complete the building by including that much in the budget for the campaign.

Helburn Chairman Campaign

Major Helburn, the chairman of the Kiwanis committee to formulate plans for the drive will continue as the chairman of the campaign. The secretary of the committee is H. H. Overton, and P. M. Parsons is the other member of the committee.

The following committees were appointed at the meeting: Publicity, Robert L. Kincaid, Geo. H. Talbott, T. Russ Hill, and S. M. Reams; parade, A. H. Rhorer, J. W. Bradner, and Miss Wilhelmine Marx.

The following people were present in the meeting yesterday, representing their various organizations: Kiwanis, Major E. S. Helburn, P. M. Parsons, H. H. Overton; Daily News, R. L. Kincaid, Public Schools, J. W. Bradner; M. E. Church, South, Rev. W. K. McClure; Red Cross, George Talbott; Elks, A. H. Rhorer; Catholic church, Mrs. A. H. Rhorer; Jr. O. U. A. M., James Idol; Woman's Club, Mrs. Hugh Allen and Mrs. M. G. Hubbard; Library, Mrs. J. T. Alderson; Episcopal church, W. M. Caples; M. E. Church, North, Rev. E. F. Burnsides and Mrs. E. E. Cowden; Salvation Army, F. L. Lee and Commandant Cuthbert; First Baptist church, Rev. W. L. Powell.

SELECT SITE NEW K. U. POWER PLANT

Dam to Be Built on Cumberland, Five Miles From Pineville—Work Already Begun

Site for the $2,000,000 power plant of the Kentucky Utilities company has been selected and work of building a side-track to the place has begun. The dam will be constructed on the Cumberland river near the mouth of Greasy Creek on the Goodin farm. The work of building the dam and the plant will be carried on together and K. U. officials believe the jobs will be completed by the first of the next year.

The site selected is peculiarly adaptable for the purpose. The banks are high for some distance along the river there and it is said that the dam which will be seven feet in height will not cause any of the land to be flooded. The place is about five miles from Pineville and about 1500 feet from that branch of the L. and N. railway that runs to Magnet.

The dam will be made of concrete, the cement for which has been ordered. The power plant will be of concrete and brick. The machinery, with the exception of generators and their auxiliaries, will not be inside the building, their being the modern way of housing such machinery. A 18750KVA turbine will be installed at the place. The dam is to insure a ready supply of water during the seasons when the river is low. Steam will be used to generate the power.

The plant will greatly increase the efficiency and broaden the scope of the K. U.'s service in this section. The plants at the Porket and at Varilla will continue to be used, the new plant servin gas a supplemental station or for the sole source of power should the others become impaired. Plans for the building of new transmission lines have not been worked out

Segt. Landay, Chicago engineer, is in charge of the engineering work The Foundation company is doing the foundation work.

GEORGE J. GOULD DIES IN FRANCE EARLY TODAY

Financier and Railroad Man, Leader of Famous Gould Family, One Most Prominent Figures U. S. Business World

DEATH FROM LONG ILLNESS FOLLOWING PNEUMONIA

By Associated Press.

MENTONE, France, May 16.—George Jay Gould, American financier, who has been ill here some time, died here early today. He was stricken with pneumonia.

George Jay Gould, financier and railroad man, succeeded to the leadership of the famous Gould family upon the death of his father, Jay Gould, December 2, 1892.

In addition to assuming responsibility, as trustee and executor, for the $80,000,000 estate left by his father, he carried on and expanded the great railroad holdings of the latter, and within a few years, during which he applied the lessons learned from the elder Gould, he became one of America's foremost railroad financiers.

He was born in New York city February 6, 1864, the sixth in line of descent from Major Nathan Gould, or Gold, the original ancestor, who came from the south of England in 1846 and setled in Fairfield, Conn.

Gould was a director of the Denver and Rio Grande Railway company, the Rio Grande Southern Railroad, the Utah Fuel company and of the Manhattan Railway company. During his career he had been president of the Little Rock and Fort Smith Railway; president and chairman of the board of directors of the Missouri Pacific Railway; president of the Texas and Pacific Railway; president of the St. Louis, Iron Mountain and Southern Railway; president of the International and Great Northern Railway; director of the Wabash Railroad, and vice-president of the Western Union Telegraph company.

Mr. Gould's first marriage was in 1886 to Edith Kingdon, who dropped dead while playing golf on the Gould estate at Lakewood, N. J., in November, 1921. From this union there were five children.

In May, 1922, Mr. Gould married Jeanne Sinclair, a former actress, 30 years his junior. The second marriage was regarded as almost as much of an elopement as the marriages of three of his children, Edith, George, Jr., and Kingdon. The first news of it came spending their honeymoon, but it later transpired that the ceremony was performed in Lakewood. As a consequence of this second marriage, Mr. Gould lost property valued at $3,000,000 left by his first wife, which reverted to a trust fund for her children.

While Mr. Gould apparently enjoyed good health during the years he spent as a railroad builder, it developed during a lawsuit in 1923 that he had suffered a breakdown, and was spending most of his time in Europe recuperating from bronchial trouble.

This spring he became seriously ill while in Egypt, and was hurried back to his villa in southern France suffering from pneumonia, since which time his life had been despaired of.

GAMBLING GAMES PREVENT ABBOTT BAZAAR SHOWING HERE

Not allowed to open here on account of the games of chance which form a part of the attraction, the Abbott Bazaar company plans to leave tomorrow. The tent has been pitched for three days on the vacant lot opposite the Cumberland hotel.

Chief H. E. Ball informed the managers of the attraction that they would not be allowed to operate the various "candy wheels" and other games of chance within the city and they declined to open without this privilege. It is understood that the bazaar has a vaudeville act but that there are no seats inside the tent.

The Vagges, a vaudeville team, came last night to perform at the bazaar but finding that the show was not open they contracted with the Brown Amusement company for a two nights' engagement.

NIGHT PROWLER FLEES WHEN HOUSEHOLD OF 14 WOMEN AROUSED

The traditional bravery of man and the timidity of women received a severe set-back last night when a burglar dark visaged and garbed in the usual sweater, fled in confusion at the appearance of fourteen curious and adventure-loving women.

It was at 3 o'clock this morning when the heroine of the story, awoke and looked into the glowering eyes of the villain. A few sharp screams aroused the household which was composed almost entirely of women boarders. The knight of the jimmy was no match for this host of characteristically clad damsels and he ran down the stairway and made a hurried exit from the house.

Night officers were summoned and soon arrived on the scene. No trace of the intruder was found. Nothing was taken. Eulogizing the burglar who had dared to venture among so many women, and perhaps thinking the fright which the visitor received was sufficient punishment, they left the house.

LOAN ASSOCIATION SELLS OUT STOCK

Last of $500,000 Capital Stock in Peoples' Building and Loan Sold Yesterday

One of the fastest growing institutions in Middlesboro is the Peoples' Building and Loan Association, with offices located with Manring and company in the Citizens Building. This association was incarporated in August, 1920, with an authorized capital stock of $500,000, and the last stock or the first half million was sold yesterday, so that no one can now buy any stock in this institution until its capital is increased.

This institution loans money to members only, with which to buy or build a home, and the money is repaid in small monthly payments just like rent, so that there is no excuse now-a-days for any one not owning their own home in Middlesboro, if they will make the effort.

Both of the banks of Middlesboro encourage and assist the Peoples' Building and Loan Association, as it is considered a very safe place for the investor and saver, and a good thing for the borrower as he has nine years in which to repay the loan in small monthly payments.

One of the attractive features of this association is that its membership is not limited to residents of Middlesboro only, but it has members in Tennessee, Virginia and Kentucky, with more than half a dozen in Louisville and Lexington, and also has one membe rin Cincinnati. These out-of-town members went into the Association as a savings account, as the Peoples' earned 10 per cent for its stockholders last year, and should be able to do so right along.

RECORD ENROLLMENT SHOWN FOR L. M. U. SUMMER SCHOOL

HARLAN BASEBALL CHAMPION NOW

Victory Over Manchester Yesterday 8 to 3—Pitcher Jones Fans Eighteen Men

HARLAN, May 16.—Harlan High school has a clean claim to the baseball championship of Southeastern Kentucky by virtue of their win over Manchester yesterday to the tune of 8 to 3.

Manchester started out like a lion, scoring three times in the first inning, but soon cooled down and failed to mark again in the game. Jones tightened up in the second and fanned eighteen men before the game was finished. Alexander, Harlan's catcher, was credited with eighteen put outs while T. Lyons, first baseman, got nine.

Harlan insists that this victory gives them clear title to the championship but they will meet Corbin Saturday to furnish entertainment for the crowd.

MAY ASK TROOPS IF DISTILLERY LOOTING PERSISTS

Robert Lucas Intimates Nelson County Authorities Fail to Preserve Order When Latest Robbery This Morning Reported

GUARDS REPULSE BANDITS IN 45-MINUTE BATTLE

By Associated Press.

LOUISVILLE, May 16.—Robert Lucas, collector of internal revenue, in a statement here today, said he would ask for troops to maintain order in Nelson county if distillery robberies continued. The latest attempt occurred early today when guards repulsed whiskey bandits at T. W. Samuels distillery at Deathville. Lucas said two hundred shots were fired at the three guards who barricaded themselves behind barrels and returned the fire which lasted forty-five minutes. The bandits got one case of liquor from the warehouse but left it on the platform. They fled in an automobile. They numbered eight or ten. Lucas indicated if another such attempt was made he would call on Governor Morrow for State soldiers. He intimated that Nelson county authorities had failed to preserve order.

There is at present only one telephone in this section, the singly line going up the railroad.

CITY ASSESSOR FINISHES REPORT

City's Value Placed at $5,129,485, Subject to Change or Modification by Board of Equalization

The city's personal and realty assessment is $5,129,485, according to William Wallbrecht, city tax assessor, who completed the 1923 assessment yesterday. An increase of $151,569 over last year is shown.

The classes and values of property assessed are as follows: Lands and lots, $1,223,990; improvements, $2,371,195; personal property, $1,282,911; 508 automobiles, $220,250; fifty-three trucks, $30,705 and six motor-cycles, $425. The poll tax assessment amounts to $3,013.50.

The foregoing figures will receive the attention of the equalization board which is composed of W. S. Anderson, T. H. Campbell and H. F. Hambright. Some changes will doubtless be made, as is customary, but as some assessments will be lowered and some raised, it is thought that the total will remain about the same.

Some opposition was met in making assessments on automobiles, many owners contending that this form of personalty should be exempt. The taxi drivers are said to have been particularly reticent on the subject of car assessments.

Much of the increase is due to remodeling of building, according to Mr. Wallbrecht, perhaps more than from new buildings. Local merchants are carrying much smaller stocks than they had last year and this condition partially offsets the increase indicated in building and improvement.

A THOUGHT

If any widow have children or nephews, let them learn first to show piety at home, and to requite their parents; for that is good and acceptable before God.—I Tim. 5:4.

Ay, these young things lie safe in our —hearts just so long
As their wings are in growing; and when these are strong
They break it, and farewell! The bird flies.

PUTTING OVER THE COMMUNITY CHEST CAMPAIGN

Unanimous approval of the Community Chest project was shown in every quarter at the meeting to consider the matter yesterday, and the enthusiasm elicited at this meeting assures a general cooperation which practically promises great success for the proposition.

So great was the interest in the proposed Community Chest that the representative committee was unwilling to wait until July, the time planned to put on this drive, but voted to begin it May 25 of next week. Committees were appointed to take charge of every detail of the campaign and pre-campaign work, and they are already at work. On May 25 this project, the most constructive thing of the kind ever undertaken in Middlesboro, will be put up to the public and success or failure in raising the $17,000 budget will determine how Middlesboro is fitted to take hold of such a progressive step.

This $17,000 budget, apart from providing for the usual charitable organizations here, has some remarkble additional features which particularly commend it and its framers to the public. Two thousand dollars is included for the furthering of school athletics, to be used for purchasing an athletic field and supplementing the salary of athletic coach so that a thoroughly competent one may be secured. This is something never undertaken here before and is in itself worthy of greatest commendation.

Then $750 has been appropriated for the Boy and Girl Scouts, two thoroughly worthwhile organizations which have never before received civic recognition. Another big step is the including in the budget of $1000 for the public library which, added to the amount appropriated by the city, will make an adequate sum to run the library and buy needed improvements and new books.

And so the list spreads out until we realize what a great thing this is and what a wonderful step forward its adoption will be. Surely every citizen will support the move to the utmost of his ability.

LOST TRAILS

The finest pavement in the world—a Roman road built centuries ago—is discovered four feet under the earth's surface at Colchester, England.

This superb highway was put together by the tessellated or checkerboard system, like the mosaic patterns of tiles inlaid in many colors as flooring for modern bathrooms, building entrances, etc.

The design is worked out in seven colors. The tiles in places are arranged to form dragons, bulls, flowers and dolphins.

It starts you think ing about the glories of lost civilizations. Grim, but a trifle more interesting, is a skeleton found on top of this ancient pavement in England. The bones of a young woman. Why was she left there? You picture a speeding chariot, knocking her down, the driver galloping his horses ahead without stopping.

If you ever visit Peru and explore what remains of the wonderful Inca civilization destroyed by Spanish conquerors, the Inca roads would impress you most—particularly if you drive a car.

One of those roads was nearly 2000 miles long. Twenty feet wide, it stretches over the mountains, practically as good today as when it was built centuries ago. First the Inca road makers laid down huge slabs of stone. They covered this with a thick coating of bituminous cement. Time has hardened this cement into solid rock.

Describing this road, Charles J. Finger says in his book, 'Lost Civilizations":

"I recall the great stone road of the vanquished people, perfectly level or gently sloping, leagues of living rock being cut for its passage, ravines filled with solid masonry, precipices carved. Nor was the road left a mere mechanical triumph. On either side there were embankments, rip-rapped with stone, and trees and flowers were planted.

The good roads movement started when barbarians began clearing trails through the dense jungles. Civilization has always been spurred or held back to great extent by highway conditions. And this is true now more than ever before, because congestion of population requires adequate arteries of traffic.

Our good roads movement is making rapid strides. It is really amazing when you compare with the dirt pavements of only 20 years ago.

When our civilization lies buried under the ground, future excavators may not think much of us as they unearth someof the hum pavements we have laid. However—

While we do not build our roads with the permanence of the Romans and Incas, possibly this is because we intuitively feel that it will not be many years until most of our travel will be by airplane with the "roads" in the air.

Do you know Baseball?
by Billy Evans

Questions

ONE—Is it possible to make a substitution for a base runner, and still have the original player remain in the game?

TWO—In case of rain or muddy field, who is the sole judge as to whether or not the game should be started?

THREE—In case a game is stopped by the umpire, because of rain, is there any time limit as to when the game can be resumed?

FOUR—What happens when the batter strikes at an illegally pitched ball?

FIVE—Is it necessary that the team at the bat makes an appeal for the calling of a balk?

Answers

ONE—Only by consent of the captain of the other team.

TWO—The manager or captain of the home team is the sole judge as to the fitness of the field for starting play.

THREE—The time limit formerly was 30 minutes. Now under the new ruling the umpire can wait as long as he sees fit.

FOUR—It counts for a strike or whatever may follow.

FIVE—A balk rests entirely with the judgment of the umpire. There is no necessity or reason for an appeal, although the team at bat often raises the claim.

THE DUB

❖ ❖ ❖ ❖ By Berton Braley ❖ ❖ ❖ ❖

He was dull and he was stolid
And his head with bone was solid,
Or at any rate that's how he looked to us.
He seemed shy of information
Or of any conversation
On the topics we had chosen to discuss.
He looked stupid, heavy-headed,
And we thought his brain imbedded
In the ivory and granite of his knob;
Yes, he seemed a hopeless dud in
Every way, till of a sudden
Someone got this bird to talking of his job.

Then his face with glamor lighted,
And his eyes grew keen, excited,
As he spoke ofthings he understood so well;
We, who thought we could ignore him,
Sat quite breathlessly before him
While his conversation held us in a spell.
Thus we learned this little lesson,
Which we'd lay a lot of stress on,
"Don't misjudge a guy who seems to be a gawk;
You may find, as quite a few have,
He has better brains than you have,
When the man who knows his job begins to talk!"

CONTINUATION OF LETTER FROM LESLIS PRESCOTT TO THE GAY LITTLE MARQUISE

Jack began to get quiet as I asked him to turn the roadster into the street our apartment is on. You know, dear little Marquise, it is one of the most fashionable in the city.

I said, "What is the matter?"

At first he answered nothing but after I had questioned him two or three times he replied in a business like tone, "I hope, Leslie, you haven't paid too much for the apartment.

Perhaps it was the consciousness of knowing that I had paid too much for it that made my angry at this tone. You must know, gay little Marquise, I have a very quick temper.

In a tone as cold as his I said "You put yourself out of a critical class, Jack, when you would not let me consult you in any way.

"I knew that you would want to live only in a good part of the city. I knew you would want to have plenty of air. I knew that you would want me to have some of the niceties to which I was accustomed.

"If you had seen the places that were shown me when I was looking for an apartment, you would be perfectly satisfied with this one whatever I paid for it."

"It isn't a question, my dear girl, of what you paid for it. It is a question of what we can afford. Perhaps it would have been better to have boarded a while.

At this inauspicious moment we drove up to the curb of the apartment house which is very imposing. I saw Jack look over in disapproval. I wonder if he would have disapproved as much of a tenement?

We walked in, were met by an obsequious office attendant and were taken up to the apartment in a gorgeous elevator. I opened the door and turned on the switch. Even Jack had to admire it.

"Good Lord, Leslie, I never saw such magnificence," he remked grudgingly.

"Only good taste and persistent shopping, Jack," I answered.

Notwithstanding I said this, Jack's face grew longer and longer. He did not admire anything as Karl Whitney had. He did not make me feel as though I had done something splendid. Instead he made me feel that I had not only made a great mistake but in some way had committed almost a crime.

I didn't even dare tell him about mother giving me some more money to furnish the bedroom because when he saw the piano he said, "How much rent are you paying for that thing?"

And I answered, "I am not paying any rent. It belongs to us."

"Good Lord," was all he said.

Then he sat down in the easy chair which I had planned for his especial comfort and never noticing the smoking set and his own lamp by which he could read. He looked up at me and said very, very sternly, "Leslie how much have you gone into debt?"

"I don't owe a dollar."

"How much of the money your mother gave us have you spent?"

"I have spent every cent that mother gave me."

"I thought I told you that I wanted a thousand dollars, at least, of that money to pay on some stock."

"And you will remember that I reminded you mother gave me that money for a specific purpose—to furnish this apartment."

There are six roles of outstanding importance and these are played by Eleanor Boardman, Mae Busch, Barbara La Marr, Richard Dix, Frank Mayo and Lew Cody. In addition to these there is a long cast of players who have made a prominent place for themselves in the screen world.

THE SANDPIPER

Across the narrow beach we flit,
One little sandpiper and I;
And fast I gather, bit by bit,
The scattered driftwood bleached and dry.

The wild waves reach their hands for it,
The wild wind raves, the tide runs high.
As up and down the beach we flit,
One little sandpiper and I.

Stanch friends are we, well tried and strong,
The little sandpiper and I.
Comrade, where wilt thou be tonight,
When the loosed storm breaks furiously?
My driftwood fire will burn so bright!
To what warm shelter canst thou fly?
I do not fear for thee, though wroth
The tempest rushes through the sky.
For are we not God's children both,
Thou, little sandpiper and I?

—Celia Thaxter.

Cooking with an electric range is the only method in which all of these unpleasant features are entirely eliminated. As the hot summer months are before you, now is the time to give this matter serious consideration.

Dr. Hubert Work Speaker at Presbyterian General Assembly

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 16.—Tw years of effort to establish a new form of government for the Presbyterian Church of the United States will remain undecided when the General Assembly holds its annual meeting here, May 17-24.

In the face of keen opposition to certain proposals in the new plan of government, it is expected another year will have to pass before any definite action will result.

This is the opinion of influential members of the Presbyterian Church who will take part in the General Assembly here. According to these individuals, even though the necessary number of 151 affirmative votes of the presbyteries of the country are gained for the new plan amendments will be offered at the General Assembly, so that the presbyteries would have to vote again on the plan as amended during the coming year. Its adoption, therefore, is not expected for at least another year.

The new plan of government is termed "Overture I" and provides for the establishment of a General Council, a central organization to have supervision over the spiritual and material interests of the boards and agencies of the church. The General Council would, in short, serve as a mediating agency, or clearing agency, for all questions of major importance to the church. Opposition to the proposed plan is centered against the provision to provide for a paid chairman whose term would be five years, the criticism being that this would set up an individual authority repugnant to the spirit of the democratic organization of the church. Opposition is also expressed against centralization of authority in the hands of a few.

Famous Speakers

William Jennings Bryan, elected commissioner to the General Assembly this year, will be the principle speaker at the popular mass meeting on Sunday afternoon, May 20. Another figure of national prominence at the same meeting will be Secretary Hubert Work of the Department of the Interior, who has been invited to address the commissioners.

Other prominent figures at the General Assembly include Captain Robert Dollar, noted Pacific Coast steamship magnate, and Dr. John Willis Baer, famous Los Angeles banker, who has the distinction of being the only layman who has ever held the office of moderator, or presiding officer, of the Presbyterian Church of the United States.

CINCINNATI MEN HERE MAY 25 ON GOOD WILL TRIP

Delegation of Leading Wholesalers and Manufacturers Plan Trip Through Appalachian Region Next Week

TO BE HERE ONE HOUR—CITY PLANS RECEPTION

We are in receipt of advice from the Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce that their Good Will trip which visits at Middlesboro May 25 promises to be one of the largest delegations ever sent out on any Good Will or Get Acquainted tour by Cincinnati business interests.

About 100 of the leading wholesale merchants and manufacturers of Cincinnati are included in the party and they represent the largest and most important business interest in Cincinnati.

This party travels in a special train consisting of four standard Pullman cars, two Dining Cars and a Baggage car. The fact that the party travels almost constantly and very often at meal times, makes it necessary to include dining car facilities on the train.

The territory covered by this special train is over the rome of the Norfolk & Western, Southern and L. & N. Railroad through the states of West Virginia, Virginia, Tennessee and Kentucky, embracing what is commonly termed the Appalachian region. The party leaves Cincinnati Sunday night May 20th, and returns Friday night May 25, so that five days are spent in getting acquainted with the people it is planned to visit.

Bring Band and Monkey

One of Cincinnati's best bands will accompany the party and concerts will be given in each town where stops are scheduled. The feature of the visit will be a parade of the entire party through the main streets of the city immediately upon its arrival, where time permits. Souvenirs and booklets will be distributed and prizes offered which will not only interest the children but grown up folks as well. The Cincinnati Good Will party will have with it a number of splendid entertainers too add to the interest of the visit in our city. Accompanying the party will be one of the monkeys from the Cincinnati Zoo, a lively little fellow who is the mascot of the party.

A community song lead, with the party conducts a "song fest" at which time a prize is offered to the little girl who sings best or loudest.

The object of this trip is that Cincinnati wholesalers and manufacturers may have the opportunity of personally meeting their friends and customers in the cities visited, see their places of business and acquaint themselves with local business conditions.

The special train schedule has been arranged by the operating departments of the various railroads and it is expected that it will be closely adhered to and maintained.

There will be held in Cincinnati, August 25th to September 8th, the Cincinnati Fall Festival and Industrial Exposition and one of the purpose of this visit is to invite our people to visit Cincinnati at that time and view the displays of wholesale, jobbing and manufacturing concerns of Cincinnati. Entertainment features collected from all over the world will be present at this exposition and the members of the Cincinnati party will be only to pleased to give our citizens further information on this subject while visiting with us.

It is hoped that our merchants and citizens will turn out to greet these Cincinnati business men and extend to them a hospitable welcome. Cincinnati is noted for its hospitality as any of our citizens who have ever visited the city may well testify, so, through this visit we will have the opportunity in no small measure of reciprocating the hospitality many of us have enjoyed while visiting Cincinnati.

In this party will be Warner P. Sayers, President of the Cincinnati Fall Festival Company, D. C. Keller, President of the Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce and many other notables.

The Cincinnati party will be in Middlesboro on Friday, May 25, the last day of the trip, and will stop here from 12:40 p. m. to 1:40 p. m. on that day. F. M. Renshaw, of the Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce is in Middlesboro today arranging for their reception here and Middlesboro citizens are planning a program which will make the Cincinnati delegation remember that they stopped in this city.

Here's One Mother Who Is Different: She Hopes Her Boy Won't Be President!

BROOKLYN, N. Y., May 14—There's at least one mother in this country who doesn't want her boy to be president.

Yet he is one of the possibilities mentioned for the presidential race of 1924.

Mrs. Catherine Smith, 71 years old, is the mother; and Alfred E. Smith, governor of New York, is the son.

"If I had my way," says the little gray-haired woman, "he wouldn't even be governor. He would be working right here in the city near his mother.

"I used to see him 'most every day. Now it's only once every week or two, when he's able to run down from Albany. If he went to Washington, it wouldn't be even that often.

"Besides look what the presidency did to Wilson. It nearly killed him physically. I don't want my boy to run any such risk, no matter how great an honor it would be."

The little old lady looked straight ahead—a living replica of Whistler's famous portrait, "Mother." She is mother not only of "Al" Smith, but also was selected to typify New York's mother in the observance of Mother's Day.

"Of course," she went on, "Alfred comes down as often as he can. He came to take us all to the circus, just as he does every year. But it isn't often enough to suit me.

"I don't want to interfere with him too much now. He has to lead his own life.

"But I surely did interfere when he was younger. I remember the first time he went New Year's calling. We were living down on Oliver street, on the East side. It was nearly ten o'clock and the boy hadn't come home yet. So I went after him. It was too late for any young man to be out without his mother."

That drew a smile from her daughter, Mrs. Mary A. Glynn, with whom Mrs. Smith is living in an old-fashioned house in Brooklyn.

"The boy would always listen to his mother," she said, "and then take it out on me, bossing me around ever since he was six years old."

"I thought Alfred would grow up to be apriest," says his mother. "But he didn't show much aptitude at school. His mind ran along other lines. One of his teachers once told me that if he paid as much attention to his studies as he did to acting, he might amount to something."

At the Madison House in Albany, the governor has a special room for his mother. It was set apart exclusively for her when he first went into office four years ago.

"But it's getting hard for me to travel around," says Mrs. Smith, "and besides they keep Alfred so busy there, that I don't see much of him even when I'm in Albany."

It removed stuff from me I never thought could be in a human being and I feel like a different person. The pain in my right side disappeared, at once, which four doctors said would require an operation; also the bloating and indigestion." ### TWICE PROVEN

If you suffer backache, sleepless nights, tired, dull days and distressing urinary disorders, don't experiment. Read this twice-told testimony. It's Middlesboro evidence—doubly proven.

Mrs. M. A. Green, 426 Winchester St. says: "I had an attack of kidney and bladder trouble and suffered awfully. I felt run down and tired out. My kidneys acted irregularly and caused a lot of annoyance. I read of Doan's Kidney Pills and bought them at Lee & Co.'s drug store. They soon relieved all the trouble and put my kidneys in good order."

Mrs. Green gave the above statement November 2 1916 and on March 16, 1921 she added: Doan's Kidney Pills have freed me of kidney trouble. I certainly feel that the health I now enjoy, I owe to Doan's."

"You Can't Squeeze Blood Out of a Turnip"

You can't get something for nothing, neither can you create wealth by legislative enactment—in defiance of economic law. Many uninformed people believe that the railroads could cut their rates below the cost of operation and still continue to furnish adequate and modern freight and passenger service.

This same idea, carried to its logical conclusion, would in the course of time expect the Government, or some other organized body, to furnish food, clothing or other commodities at prices below cost of production or entirely free of all cost. Such an idealistic condition can never be brought about by law, and it is just as impossible for the railroads to furnish transportation on revenues which run so nearly parallel with their necessary expenditures.

The people, who have not studied economics, led often by agitators and those who wish to secure political advantage, are endeavoring to force the railroads of the country into a position whereby they are supposed to furnish prompt and reliable service without being allowed sufficient revenues for this service.

The Average Return On United States Railroads Was Only 2.64%

On the property valuation of all the railroads of the United States as determined by the Interstate Commerce Commission for the three years ending December 31, 1922, the average return was only 2.64%. This is less than the amount guaranteed by practically all savings institutions of the United States, which institutions are subject to absolutely no risk.

Because of the various Governmental regulations and the fact that railroad managements have no control whatever over rates, and have the "say so" on only about forty per cent of the expenditures, the managements of these great carriers have not been able to keep their properties up to the standard desired in order to meet the maximum transportation demand. What does a shipper care about a few dollars more freight on a carload of goods if he can save from a week to a month in their delivery? The railroads are trying to handle their freight shipments promptly, but they cannot give a maximum service unless they have adequate return upon the capital invested so that their properties can be kept in tip-top condition.

The railroads are striving heroically to give the public service. They should be permitted to work out their problems without meddling, and destructive and inhibitive regulation. Remember, that after all, the railroads are dedicated to public service, and when you injure the railroads you are injuring yourself. You cannot get something for nothing, and if you want your produce taken to the market, or goods brought to you quickly, don't try to "squeeze" the railroads; but let them earn what might be called a "living wage."
